

ProMusica Concert Series

GREAT MUSIC AND COMMUNITY OUTREACH 2012 SEASON PREVIEW

Mac Frampton

Concert Pianist, Organist, & Jazz Musician

Sunday, January 22, 2012

Gainesville First Presbyterian Church 4:00 pm

Electricity! Exuberance! Virtuosity! All come together when piano and organ phenomenon Mac Frampton performs. His productions always feature a wide variety of musical styles-- great movie music, the hottest Broadway tunes, and beloved classical pieces. Wherever he appears, Frampton's shows thrill and mesmerize audiences.

Community Outreach Performance

Sean VanMeter, Pianist

Wednesday, February 15, 2012

North Georgia Christian School 10:00am

A performance for young audiences: ADMISSION FREE

Call the ProMusica office for details: 770-967-2768

Sean VanMeter has played piano for thousands of people, at small parties and large festivals, and provided background music for countless corporate meetings in Atlanta. While other students are mowing lawns, Sean has spent the past three years getting paid, by adults, to play piano for them. He earned enough in his first two years to put a down payment on the baby grand piano and made a whirlwind tour of Italy.

Coro Vocati Chamber Choir

John Dickson, Director

Sunday, March 4, 2012

Gainesville First Presbyterian Church 4:00 pm

Coro Vocati is one of the premier chamber choirs of the south. Its members serve as music educators, church musicians, vocal teachers, singers and conductors in addition to their "call" to perform in this outstanding professional quality ensemble. Coro Vocati's Artistic Director/Conductor, John Dickson, is Dean and Professor of Conducting at Mercer University's Townsend School of Music where he conducts the masterworks chorus.

FOR MORE INFORMATION VISIT
WWW.PROMUSICACONCERTSERIES.COM
INDIVIDUAL CONCERT TICKETS: $20

ProMusica Concert Series P.O. Box 2196, Gainesville, Georgia 30503

PHONE: 770- 967-2768